

Transportation and Directions to Gender Impacts Symposium, 9/29/17

Parking and registration opens at 9:00. The symposium begins at 10:00.

Location: The Gargoyle in Mallinckrodt Center on the Danforth Campus at Washington University

Due to construction on the Washington University campus, parking is limited, and we encourage you to ride share or take public transportation if possible. Parking passes will be available for those who need it. Please email Barbara Baumgartner at bbaumgar@wustl.edu to request a parking pass. See below for more information.

Public Transportation

The Danforth Campus of Washington University is accessible by Metrolink and Metrobus. The nearest Metrolink stop is Big Bend. Walk south on Big Bend, and turn east on Skinker to get to Mallinckrodt. The Metrobus stops at Big Bend and Forsyth. Click here to connect to the Metro transit website: Click here to connect to the MetroTransit website.

Building Location

The symposium will be held on the Danforth Campus of Washington University in the Gargoyle, located in the Mallinckrodt Center. Here is a link to a campus map: <https://wustl.edu/wp-content/uploads/2017/06/Danforth-Campus-Map-2017.pdf>

Mallinckrodt Center is building #77, and the Gargoyle is on the lower level, just below Edison Theater. There will be signs to guide you.

Driving, parking and building directions:

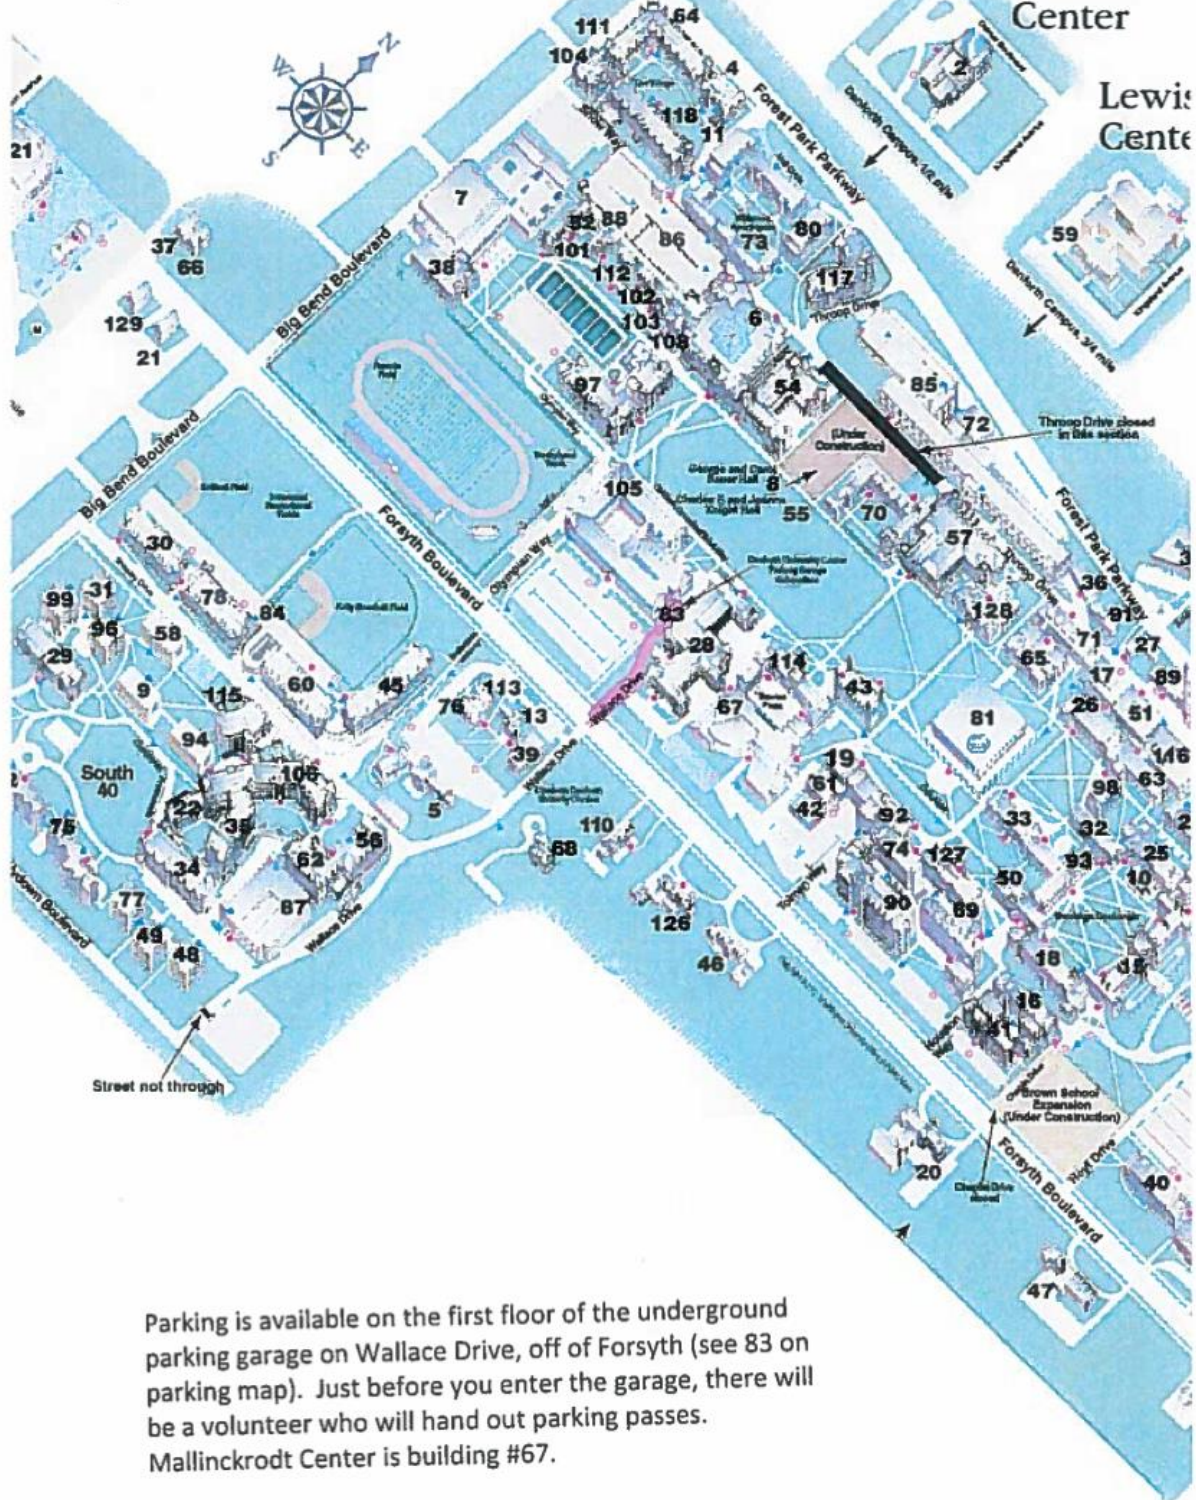

Those who are driving and need to park on campus may park in the underground parking garage located on Wallace Drive, off of Forsyth Boulevard between Big Bend and Skinker. Parking passes will be distributed at the parking entrance of the parking garage from 9:00 a.m. to 10:15. Anyone arriving after 10:15 will need to come to the Gargoyle, register, and pick up a parking pass at that time and return to her car to display the parking pass.

If you plan to drive, please email Barbara Baumgartner at bbaumgar@wustl.edu to ensure there will be adequate numbers of parking passes**

For directions to the parking garage, refer to campus map below.
